

CLASSROOM ACTIVITY, KS2

Research migration in your family

Migration is a part of human life – humans have migrated since the beginning of time!

Think about anyone in your life who was born somewhere else. This could be yourself, or a parent, aunt or uncle, grandparent or family friend. If you can't think of anyone who was born in a different country, try and think of someone who was born in a different part of the UK.

Think about the following questions:

- Where were they born?
- Why did they move?
- What do you think life was like for them when they first moved?
- What might have been difficult for them?
- What might have been easy or enjoyable for them?

Notes for the teacher

This activity is best done alongside our Stories of Migration lesson plan which can be found here. If you want to continue learning after this lesson, ask your students to interview their family members as homework. Prepare 3 or 4 questions as a class, and ask the children to bring back their answers to discuss in your next lesson.
